MANGLED BY AN ELECTRIC CAR.

While Trying to Board a Moving Car

A Young Man Has His Foot Crushed.

Harry Carr, twenty years old, who boards at No. 25 East St. Joe street, met with a terrible accident yesterday afternoon, at 1 o'clock. In attempting to get on to a south-bound electric car, which was passing the corner of Illinois and St. Joe streets, at full speed, he was thrown to the ground and fell partially under the car, which passed over his right leg, crushing and mangle his foot and ankle nearly to the knee. He was picked up and carried to a neighboring yard, where a cot was improvised and restoratives were applied. The young man suffered intensely, and talked pathetically about being crippled for life, what would his parents think, etc. Dr. George D. Kahlo was sent for and arrived in a few minutes. He dressed the wounds and made the sufferer as comfortable as possible until an ambulance arrived, when he was removed to his boarding house. Dr. Kahlo said amputation at the knee joint would be necessary.

The car which the young man attempted to board was so full of people that it was not making any stops, and so far as could be learned, no blame attaches to the railroad.

The young man was taken to the railroad risk in trying to board a rapidly-moving car, but said he must get down town. He is employed at Kalsbach's poultry house on West Maryland street, and his parents live at Wasmaker, Ind.

Armies of the Potomac and Cumberland

—Twenty-Third Army Corps—

Other Reunions.

ARMY OF THE POTOmac, held its reunion at the Second Presbyterian church at the corner of element and Pennsylvania streets. On the battlefield this army numbered about 203,000 men, but it was a very small number that assembled in the church yesterday afternoon.

Col. R. S. Robertson, of St. Wayne, was chosen to preside and Norm G. Cooper, of St. Louis, Michigan, was made secretary. It was not a reunion of the regular association of the "Army of the Potomac," which is a large organization numbering several thousands in its membership, but simply a gathering of the soldiers who served in that Grand Army for the purpose of enjoying the society of one another for a few minutes in informal social communion.

The following persons were present:

Charles L. Clark, Twenty-fourth New York Infantry, of Illinois; Eugene N.

Gould, Eighth New York Heavy Artillery, of Indiana; Col. J. C. O. Reddington, Sixtieth New York, of New York; G. W.

Johnson, Second Illinois Light Artillery, of Illinois; Sol Miller, One-hundred-and-forty-third Pennsylvania, of Illinois;

James Strer, Fifteenth Illinois Cavalry, of Illinois; L. E. Ranyon, One-hundred-and-thirty-third Illinois, of Illinois; J. R. Eaton, Laird Maine, of Indiana; Bernard Mathews, One-hundred-and-eight New York, of Kentucky; J. B. Howard, One-hundred-and-eight New York, of Indiana; Joseph Tetter, One-hundred-and-forty-eighth Pennsylvania, of Missouri; G. W. Harrison,

New York Heavy Artillery, of Indianapolis; J. L. Pray, First O. L. A., of

Ohio; E. H. C. Cavins, Fourteenth Indiana

Infantry, of Indiana; James Clark, Fourth

N. Y. H. A., of Ohio; R. Scott, Sixth

N. Y. H. A., of Illinois; W. A. Russell, Fourth

N. Y. H. A., of Michigan; A. H. Watts,

Nineteenth N. Y. Cavalry, of Ohio; J.

K. Brown, One-hundred-and-forty-second Pennsylvania, of Indiana; W. Corlett, First

Ohio Volunteer L. A., of Ohio, and T.

Cooney, Seventh Michigan Infantry, of Michigan.

Col. J. C. O. Reddington sang the Hoke

Smith song published in the Journal, and the assembly sang in chorus "The Vacant Chair" and other songs. Charles L. Clark gave an interesting account of a visit to the old battlefield of Bull Run during the National Encampment at Washington last year. He spoke of the old soldiers who is so well known to all the old soldiers who participated in either of the battles of Bull Run, said that the old soldiers who old house had been repaired, and was still occupied by J. E. B. Stewart, who welcomed him and his comrades to the old scene when they were there, and said his daughters had all married them "darned old Yankee soldiers." The McHenry house was also still standing, and a service was performed by the same McHenry who resided there during the war. McHenry has marked on trees about the place the spots where the noted men were killed or wounded.

The numbers attending the reunion were small, but the interest and entertainment afforded was very large.

ARMY OF THE CUMBERLAND.

Major Randall Talked to the Few that Gathered.

The reunion of the Army of the Cumberland was held yesterday afternoon at the First Baptist Church. Owing to some misunderstanding about the time and place, there were but a few of its members present. Major Randall was chosen to preside, and in taking the chair made a brief speech to those assembled. He gave a brief history of the army and what it had accomplished, saying that he was sorry that there were not more of its members present, but that he was glad that a few remarks were made by other comrades, and the meeting was adjourned without any business being transacted.

ARMY OF THE TENNESSEE.

Well Entertained at Its Campfire by Capt.

Jack Crawford, Post-Scout.

The army of the Tennessee held its campfire at the First Presbyterian Church last night. The meeting was not largely attended, and several who were assigned to take part in the programme failed to appear. Gen. William Warner was to have made the opening address, but he was not present. August H. Boice, who had the camp fire in charge, called the meeting to order. After Rev.

Washington Gardner had offered prayer,

Col. Samuel McKee, of Kentucky, was called upon to deliver an address. Colonel McKee said he came to hear other old soldiers talk, but would try to say a few words. After relating some of the amusing reminiscences he concluded by saying: "When I was a boy I used to think that I could not help thinking of the time when we went to the field, many of us were barefooted. Now we are in the field, many of us are barefooted.

There is not a boy who will soon be going to the field with bare feet. There
